

I enjoy my privacy. My state lawmakers have listened to me and enacted a stronger Do Not Call law than the current federal one. What about home rule and states rights? Why should you be allowed to over ride my state law. I object. I urge you to leave you my state law alone. If I want to hear from a company or business, I'll call them. You should be listenting to the public you are supposed to represent, not big telemarketing firms. Remember, government is 'of the people, by the people, for the people', not of big business, by big business and for big business.
